FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Southern California PGA partners with LaBarre/Oksnee for PGA Education Program

The Southern California PGA is pleased to announce that we have entered into a partnership with LaBarre/Oksnee Insurance to provide insurance services to PGA Professionals in Southern California. This partnership will help develop a program that will bring more value to the PGA Member through education of the Insurance industry, including where it is headed and how the PGA Professional's role will evolve. The deal will also allow PGA Professionals to better control risk and liability in the future, create a checklist to help Members review their facility, provide assistance in the understanding of terms and scenarios that can arise in the protection of the golf facility, and give each member access to free risk assessments. Employee health benefits can also be included in each program.

The Southern California PGA is committed to providing its members the most up-to-date, essential insurance information, and being a leader among the 41 PGA Sections across the United States. This program will keep members at the forefront of changes and trends in the industry, so they can bring suggested changes or improvements directly to the management. By partnering with LaBarre/Oksnee, the PGA Professional will have a direct, personal relationship with their insurance broker to assist them with any needs.

Greg Twiggs, a 15-year PGA Tour player and winner of the 1989 San Diego Open, will be the ambassador to the Southern California PGA.

“I am very excited for this upcoming partnership,” said Twiggs. “As the head of the Golf Division here at LaBarre/Oksnee, I am confident that PGA Professionals will benefit greatly from every service we offer. I’m really looking forward to getting out and meeting all of the SCPGA Members.”
